Look & Feel Your Best!™
With Okinawa Life.

The average Japanese lifespan is 83 years—that's the highest in the world! And in Okinawa, islands 1,000 miles south of Tokyo, people live even longer than that!

The reason suggested for this longevity is the Okinawan diet, a rich combination of fish, soy-based products, and Okinawan vegetables—like goya (bitter melon).

And now you too can enjoy these rich super-nutrients every day...
with Okinawa Life!

Isaflavone

found in high quantities in traditional tofu of Okinawa—called Shinku-tofu—has an antioxidant effect that protects the body from active oxygen.*

Zedoary

an herb similar to turmeric that helps aid digestion.*

Goya

a bitter melon, the nutritional king of the Okinawan diet.
