PerfectAminoXP™ contains the eight essential amino acids the body needs to support and maintain its muscular, skeletal, enzymatic, and hormonal systems, which can be damaged with stress, age and physical exertion. These amino acids are considered "essential" because they must be obtained from foods or supplements and are not created by the body itself. The essential amino acids in PerfectAminoXP are in the exact proportions needed for maximum utilization by the body. Lack of just one of these amino acids can affect your body's ability to build its needed body protein.*

PerfectAminoXP features an Amino Acid Utilization™ (AAU) of at least 99%. This means that 99% or more of the amino acids are directly used as building blocks in the body's protein synthesis. This is more than twice the AAU of other dietary protein sources (see chart below).*
