

Suggested Use: As a dietary supplement, take one serving (3 leveled scoops) mixed with 16 ounces of water or suitable beverage and drink on an empty stomach. Taken once in the morning and again in the evening for maximum results.

D-Aspartic Acid is one of the enantiomers of the amino acid known as Aspartate, where the common dietary enantiomer is L-Aspartate. L-Aspartate is a non-essential amino acid and can be incorporated into protein structures, although D-Aspartate is not commonly associated with protein structures. D-Aspartate has been found to be a constituent of human cartilage, enamel, and can be accumulated in the brain as well as being a constituent of red blood cell membranes.[†]

D-Aspartic Acid (DAA) is suggested to be a regulator of testosterone synthesis and may act on a stimulatory receptor (NMDA). D-Aspartic Acid shows promise in increasing nitric oxide levels. Continuous supplementation of D-Aspartic Acid may only provide temporary increases in testosterone for healthy men. Cycling of D-Aspartic Acid is recommended and the most effective means of use.[†]

Cycling: To achieve the maximum benefits from D-Aspartic Acid, follow our suggested use for 12 days ON and 12 days OFF. Cycling can be extended to 4-8 weeks ON and 2-4 weeks OFF. Experiment with cycling rates to find your optimal length of use between cycles.[†]
