Lutein is an antioxidant carotenoid that occurs in nature, such as dark green leafy vegetables, with zeaxanthin, a closely related carotenoid. Lutein and zeaxanthin concentrate in the eye's macula and lens, as well as in the skin, breast and cervical tissues.* Both lutein and zeaxanthin protect the macula from the degradation normally associated with aging and oxidative stress.* The macula is responsible for focus and color differentiation. While the average American intake of lutein is only 2 mg per day, other population groups consume from 6 to 20 mg per day.*

LuteinSorb™ is a patent-pending delivery of free lutein as a dispersion of lutein laid onto a hydrophilic carrier consisting of marigold (Tagetes species) fractions – all materials GMO-free. It combines lutein with both zeaxanthin isomers (3R,3'R zeaxanthin and meso-zeaxanthin) in a balance of all three macular carotenoids to support superior eye health.*

Keep out of the reach of children.
